After giving a brief history of the temperance movement in this city, he announced the arrangements that had been made for the continuance of the meetings. Judge Ferguson, of Kanawha county, who was upon the stage, was called upon to make an address, and came forward and spoke a few moments, excusing himself from more extended remarks on the plea of hoarseness. He hoped that the work now-going on would be continued, and a permanent organization effected.

Nothing cguld be dose by a spasmodic effort, either in religion or temperance. Mr. Wilbur Fruman, of Bridgeport was the next speaker, and met with quite a flattering reception from the audience. He had signed the pledge on Monday evening, and intended to do what he could for the cause of temperance. Amidst an outburst of applause that shook the building, several roughly clad men, who gave every evidence of long continued dissipation, jumped upon the stage from the audience and asked to be allowed to sign their names to the "roll of honor." The choir started one of Moody and Sankey's most popular hymn, which the audience joined in singing, and for a few moments a scene of the wildest excitement chaued. THE OPERA HOUSE TEMPERANCE MEETING.—Last evening a rousing temperance meeting was held in the Opera House, the farewell meeting of Mesars, Danbar and Stringer in this city. The admission was small, only ten cents, and was paid cheerfully, the fact that it was simply to cover the expenses of the meeting being generally understood and appreciate.

Upon the stage were a large number of ladies prominent in the temperance cause several ministers of the gospel, and the choir, which was composed of about a dozen well known singers.
